EMINENT MEN AS GUESTS
AT ITS ANNUAL DINNER

Vice President Marshall and Speaker
Clark in the List—Novel Features Introduced.

The annual dinner of The Evening Star Club was given at the Raleigh Hotel last night, the club having as guests of its members men prominent in the administration of the national and city governments, the judiciary, the army, the navy, the newspaper and magazine fraternity and the business and society circles of Washington, New York and other cities. The rule for the dinner was that there would be "no speeches," and this was followed to the letter, the guests being entertained by a remarkable series of professional talent, interspersed with just enough amusements from The Star's own ranks to give the proper local color. The professionalists, who were the stars of the several theatrical companies now in the city, never received a greater ovation for their work, and certainly it seemed that no one from the footlight world ever deserved more.

For the second time also The Morning Star, a miniature newspaper, made its appearance, followed by a loudly proclaimed "Extra." These two little newspapers contained burlesque news, editorials, advertisements and features which covered the dinner as well as the best edited city newspaper covers the local field, as its columns mentioned every person present.

These included Vice President Marshall, Speaker Clark, cabinet officers and just plain citizens all the way down to the latest arrival on the office boy staff of The Star. The Morning Star, created and carried through to a successful completion by Wingrove Bathon of The Star staff, was made even more valuable by an exceptionally brilliant collection of cartoons from the pen of Clifford K. Berryman.

A feature of the paper was a verse, "The Heart of The Star," written by Charles E. Tracewell of The Star staff. When the 370 diners had been seated the lights were extinguished in the big banquet room, and in electric letters at one end the words "Evening Star Club" were seen, and as the lights flashed on again it was noted that the banquet hall had been lavishly decorated by Lansburgh & Bro., through Manager Samuel Hart, with the American colors, the flags of the various cabinet officers present and the seals and insignia of clubs and other organizations represented in the guest list. The floral adjuncts were a special feature in connection with which Guide could himself.

Special Artists Appear.
A hard working orchestra, which stopped only on signal, immediately began to aid digestion with a lively tune, and scarcely had the first course been disposed of when Trizzie Friganza, the comedienne, appeared at one of the doors, and, brushing aside all obstacles, proceeded to the small stage in the center of the hall. By the time she had finished the three hundred and pared by James Sullivan, Joseph Leaman and Mr. McCarthy.

Listed as "Indispensables."

George O'Connor and Martin Horn, the indispensable, appeared, to the great delight of every one, who applauded Mr. O'Connor's singing and Mr. Horn's piano work. The "Extra" edition of The Morning Star was distributed immediately following the presentation of an enormous golf club and golf ball to Rudolph Kaufmann, managing editor of The Star, the presentation being made by Carter B. Keene.

Credit for the success of the dinner belongs to every member of the club, but principally to Wingrove Bathon, as chairman of the dinner committee; Henry G. Hanford, as president of The Evening Star Club; Clifford K. Berryman, for his cartoons; William H. Landvoigt, as toastmaster; H. K. Southard, as foreman of the composing room of The Evening Star; T. Doran McCarthy, as foreman of the "composing room" of The Morning Star, and C. Fred Cook, as chairman of the committee on decorations.

At Banquet Board.

The guests included Vice President Marshall, Speaker Clark, Secretary Garrison, Secretary Daniels and Secretary Redfield, Secretary Tumulty, Dr. Alberto Membrino, president-elect of Honduras; Fairfax Harrison, J. 95% OF ILLNESS DUE TO ONE CAUSE

Physicians agree that 95 per cent of all illness is possible only because of accumulated waste in the Colon (Lower Intestine). In fact, the most eminent of the World's Specialists claim that if the Colon were always kept clean the average life of humanity would be doubled.

There is now a new and simple method of clearing the Colon of this poisonous waste and keeping it clean, pure and healthy. Or curing constipation and the depressing bilious attacks which make us dull, blue and inert—without any spirit of ambition.

That method is Internal Bathing with warm water, administered by the "J. B. L. Cascade," a small, simple, and safe device. Over 300,000 people are now enthusiastically using this modern warm water cure, and Physicians are prescribing it everywhere. It is making sick folks well and well folks better, stronger, more ambitious, energetic and contented.

The "J. B. L. Cascade" is now being shown at Amick's Drug Stores, 15th and F. W. 904 G. St. N.W., Washington, and we will be glad to explain its action and uses to you in detail. Ask us for booklet "Why Man of Today Is Only 50 Per Cent Efficient."
